

UNIFORMS ISSUED FROM INVENTORY

NOTE TO MANAGERS ABOUT TRAINEES: If you're concerned about people not showing for their first day of training, you can fit them during orientation and provide the uniform on the first day. Another option is to just give one shirt and one apron for the first day, and the other items after the first day. ANOTHER NOTE: It's OK if a trainee wants two bib aprons instead of one bib and one half apron.

- First Uniform: Your first uniform is free of charge subject to the following: In the event your employment ends prior to working 80 post-training hours, you are required to return the uniform(s) directly to the restaurant manager within 24 hours after your last day of work. If you fail to return the items within that time, the company will deduct the prorated value from your final pay due to your failure to return company property.
- Rehire Uniform: Since you were given a free uniform at your first hiring, we are not obligated to cover the cost of another uniform. Therefore deductions at $.50 an hour will be made for the items purchase above. In the event your employment ends before all deductions are made, the remaining amount owed will be deducted from your final pay.
- Replacement or Additional Item(s): Deductions at $.50 an hour will be made for the items purchase above. In the event your employment ends before all deductions are made, the remaining amount owed will be deducted from your final pay.

AUTHORIZATION FOR PAYROLL DEDUCTIONS

As necessary per the section checked above, I am authorizing payroll deduction(s) and agree that should my employment end for any reason before all deductions are made, the remaining balance may be deducted from my final pay.
